CASPER MUSTANG

1966

Natrona County High School

Vol. XXIX Casper, Wyoming

Gwendolyn Hill

While classroom performance is the prime requisite for achieving the status of master teacher, other requirements must be met: devotion to colleagues, active promotion of the school, participation in professional organizations, an unquenchable thirst for personal and group improvement.

We, the staff of the 1966 MUSTANG, feel that the subject of our dedicatory remarks personifies the term "master teacher."

For more than two decades Miss Hill has been a member of the NCHS faculty. During this span of years thousands of students have been the recipients of her efforts, efforts aimed at instilling in each individual the fundamentals of composition and common sense, literature and life attitudes, grammar and general knowledge. The successes of her students attest to her victories in the classroom.

Furthermore, Miss Hill's influence has stretched beyond the classroom. She has willingly provided counsel in NCHS faculty meetings, curriculum committees, State Education Association meetings, and at state, regional, and national conclaves of English teachers.

A list of Miss Hill's activities during the current year is quite impressive and will prove our point. Chairman of our English Department, she is presently the President of the Wyoming Association of Teachers of English. In addition she was an active participant at the annual meeting of the National Council of Teachers of English in Boston last November. Striving to better herself and her department, she attended the English Institute held at the University of Wyoming last summer.

The pathway that leads to success is not without impediments; Miss Hill can give testimony to the uneven texture of this road. The road has been just bumpy enough to keep her alert and agile. "It's kept life interesting," she would say.

In appreciation of your past efforts and in anticipation of your future endeavors, we present the 1966 MUSTANG to you, Miss Hill. Our major hope is that you will find this annual a worthy successor to the twenty-one MUSTANGs that bear your brand.

That best portion of a good man's life,
His little nameless unremembered acts
Of kindness and of love.

Foreword

The spirit of a school is many things. It is a bewildered sophomore on the first day of classes, the silence just as the curtain parts on opening night of Follies, and it is the happiness, and sadness, of graduation day.

The spirit of a school is this, and more. The wondering, the laughter and the sighs —these are all part. The spirit of a school is the miserable silence of 8:25 Monday morning, and the delicious anticipation of 3:19 Friday afternoon. Most of all, it is the people of the school; not only the students, but the faculty and all the other people that make up the school.

The task of a yearbook is to capture and reflect this spirit in a small measure so that opening it, a part of the school will be reflected; so that even after years have passed it will bring back the laughter and the dedication and a little of the sadness that made up that time.

The students, the faculty, and their interests, organizations, likes, hopes, and accomplishments—

This is the spirit that the 1966 Mustang tries to capture.

The Monday Mourning View of the Campus

Scenes familiar to NCHS students for years—the campus in fall, winter, and in the spring.

Fall is gold—the gold of rustling leaves accompanying outdoor lunches.

Winter on the campus is white snow swirling down, counterpointed by the gray bare branches of the trees, and the subdued red brick of the building.

Spring is green—bright with expectation of vacation, and the seniors lined up for marching practice on the walks.

Summer—well, summer is the flowers blooming alone along the walks and the passing motorists of CY Avenue.

"Astrologically Speaking," the 1965 Junior Follies presentation, concerned a traveling troupe of actors setting out from New York. The actress hired for the lead role, who was vastly famous and equally temperamental, relied heavily upon the edicts of her astrologer for the direction of her affairs. Foiled by a scheme of her manager, the actress feigns amnesia and thus facilitates the assumption of her part by the understudy.

Mr. Welsh authored the script and supervised costume design, and Mr. Brecheisen served as technical director. An uproarious number entitled "The Triplets" was one feature that ensured the success of this annual theatrical project of the Junior Class.

Staters

Ten boys and twelve girls from the junior class were bestowed the honor of being delegates to Wonderful Wyoming Boys' and Girls' States, where the students were allowed to view first-hand the functioning of our legislative and judicial branches of government.

The future seniors experienced the activities traditional to the learning program sponsored by the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary. Campaigns for office were conducted under the banners of the Frontier and Pioneer Parties. Each nominee exhibited his creativity by the costume, handouts, and speech necessary for candidacy. Speakers included Governor Hansen, Sec. of State Thyra Thomson, and Chief Justice Glenn Parker. But above the campaign skits and the seemingly continual singing of songs, the learning sessions of the girls, at the University of Wyoming, and the boys, at the Douglas Fairgrounds, proved a rewarding educational opportunity.

The culmination of the week came when the Staters assumed the seats of the Senate, House, and court at the Capitol in Cheyenne, demonstrating for one day their prowess in governmental administration.

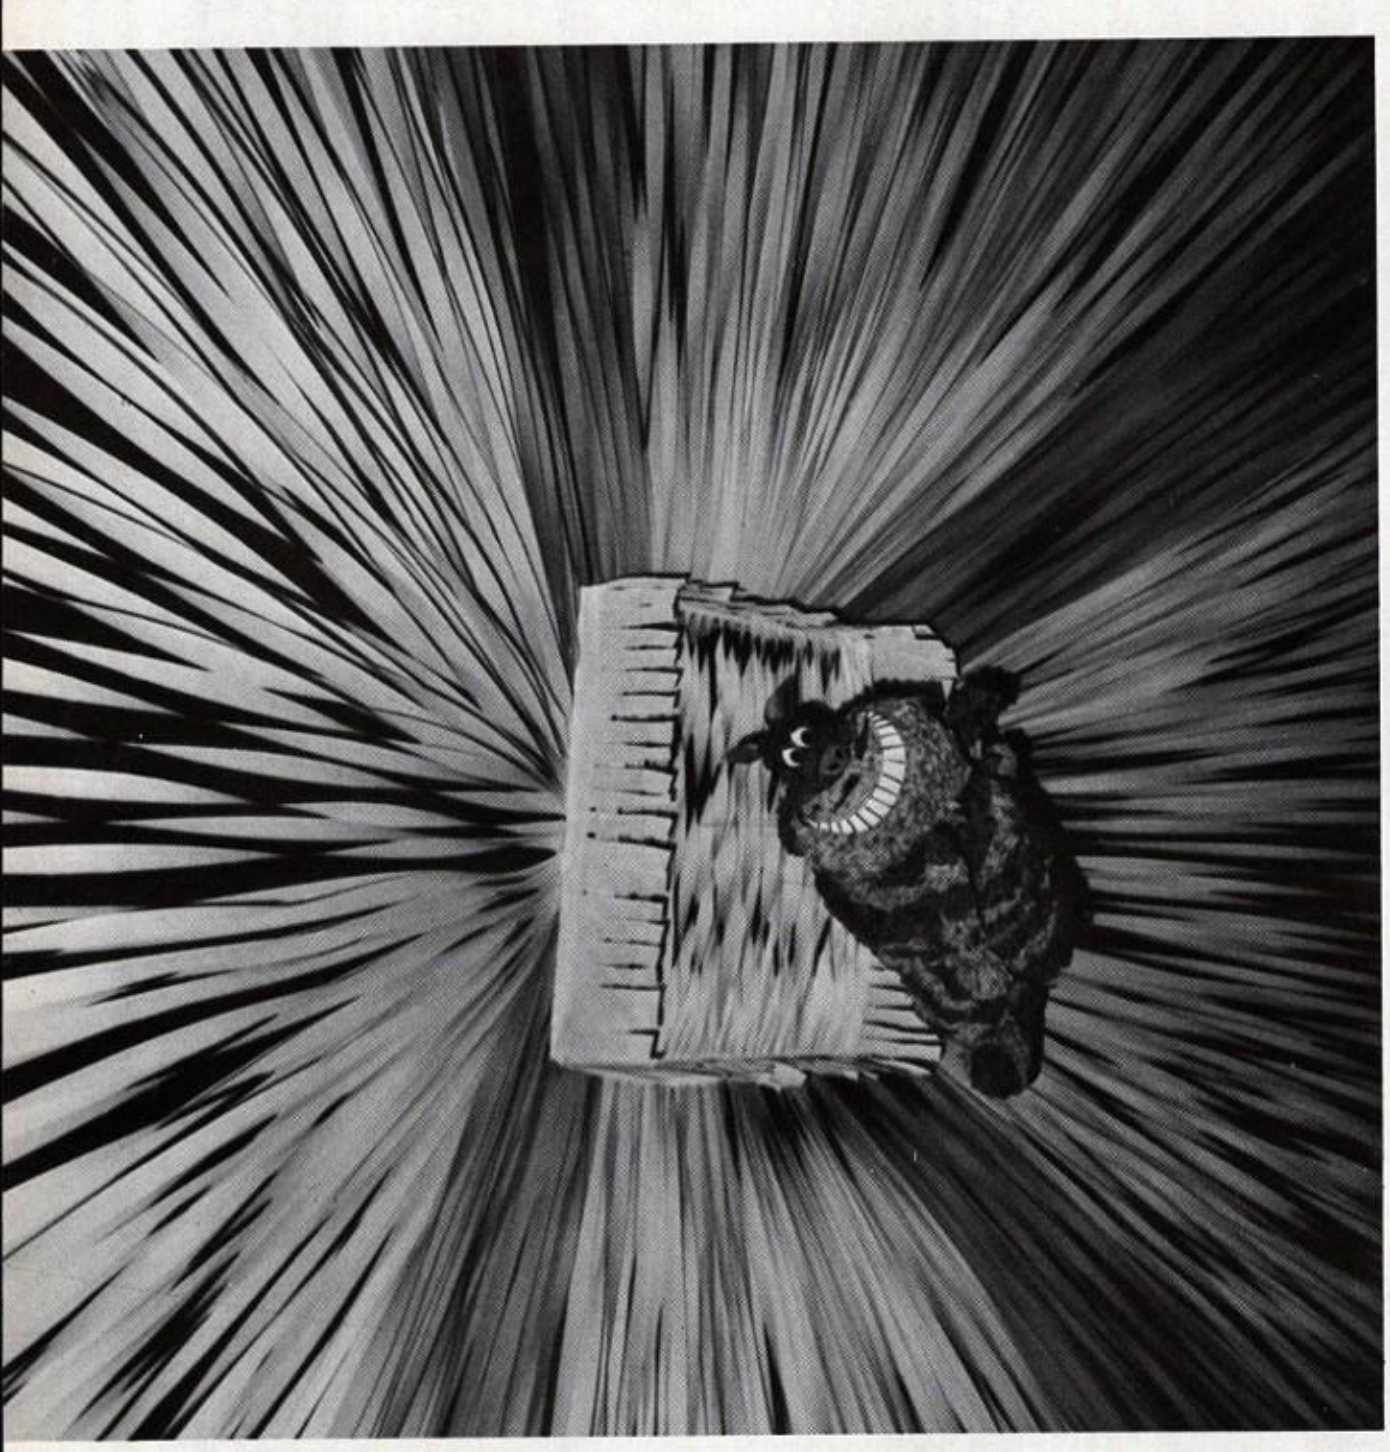
"Alice in Wonderland"



The Cheshire Cat

The Queen of Hearts reigned over the Mad Hatters Ball as the Juniors presented the Class of 1965 with their last gala dance of high school years. The theme, "Alice in Wonderland," was depicted in unique decorations: a keyhole through which couples entered the Prom, the Cheshire Cat, the Caterpillar on his Mushroom, and, of course, the Queen of Hearts. All revealed the engineering and artistic accomplishments of Mr. VanDeventer, Mrs. Kofakis, and the Junior Class.

Cheri Lang was crowned Queen at this highlight of the NCHS social season.

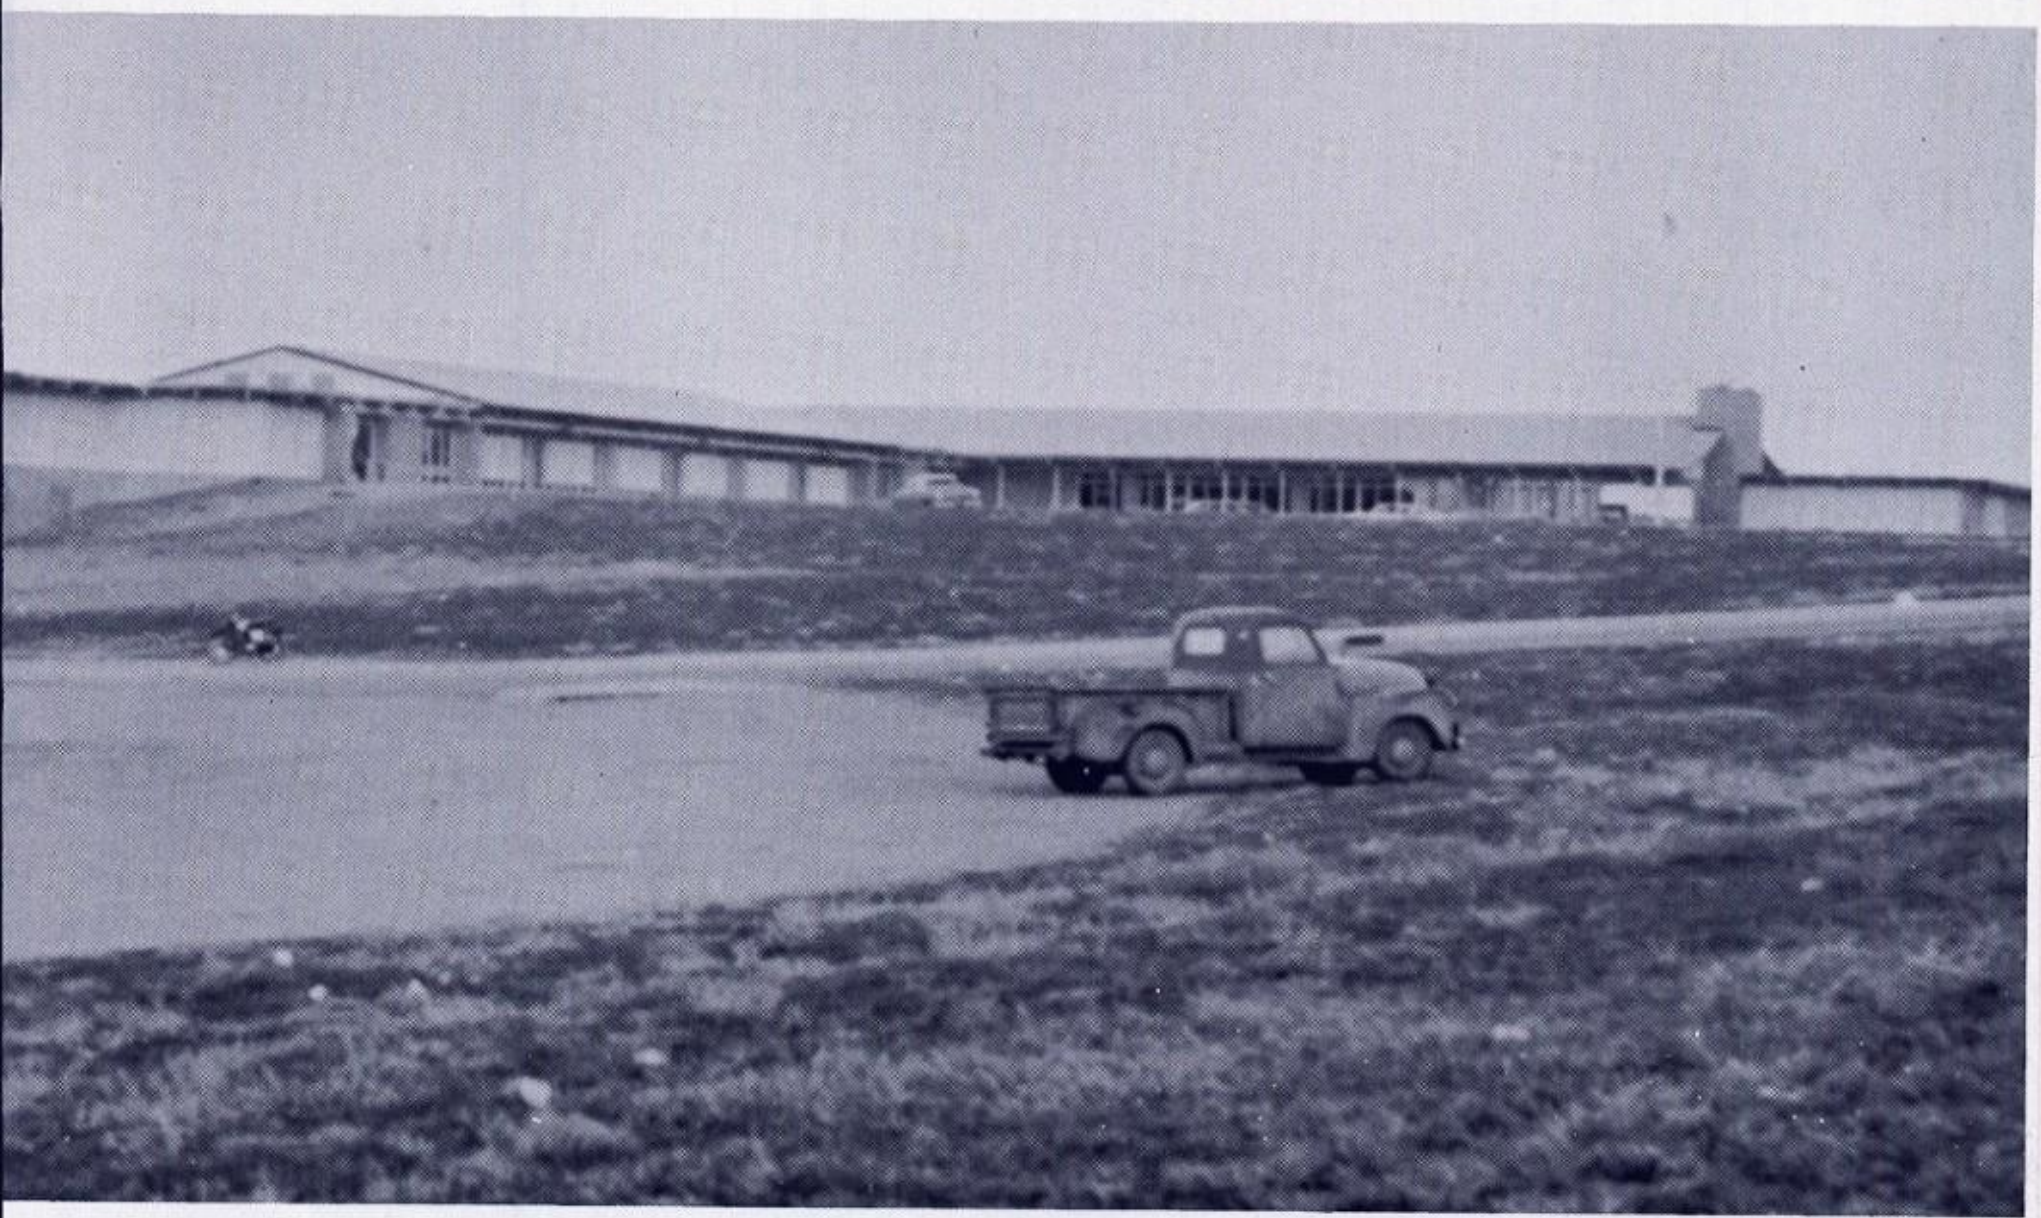
Kelly Walsh

John Whiston presents the Trojan sword to Steve Bealer.

John Whiston, Student Body President of Natrona County High School, voiced the sentiments of our student body during the installation of the Kelly Walsh High School Student Council. We believe John's remarks should be preserved for future students; thus we quote portions of his talk.

"Just as we deplore rivalry, we shall try to avoid making one school a carbon-copy of the other. Fundamental to the idea of mutual respect is the idea of diversity. We wish that each student body will be able to develope its own personality and that this personality will be the product of neither malignant antagonism nor blind imitation.

High School



Bob Kegley proffers the National Student Council Banner to Howard Gangl.

"Competition without antagonism; co-operation without imitation. Competition is a beneficial factor; it inspires each party to greater achievement. It is the source of most accomplishment. Whenever one of our schools is competing against someone else, it is imperative that all of Casper be behind that team, group, or person.

"This year we have a tradition to establish. What we do in the coming months will continue after we graduate, after our brothers and sisters graduate, perhaps after our children graduate. If we begin this year with cooperation, mutual respect, and sensible competition, we can fulfill our duties to future students."

Guys and Dolls

Guys and Dolls, based on a story by Damon Runyon, amused Casperites with its musical touch of lightness in comparing the "wicked" gangsters and the "virtuous" do-gooders. The gangsters are won over in the delightful musical. Among the famous tunes from the show are, "If I Were a Bell," "Take Back Your Mink," "Luck Be a Lady," and the title song, "Guys and Dolls."

Miss Feris, Gary Parish, Frank Allen, and the Tau Kappa Alpha trophy—the embodiment of thirty-six years' work

The Ultimate in Awards

Mr. Reese proudly surveys the trophy.

The Tau Kappa Alpha trophy, awarded for cumulative points garnered in national competition, is the most coveted prize bestowed by the National Forensic League.

In June, 1965, Miss Feris and two of her top speech students, Gary Parish and Frank Allen, went to Omaha and competed in the Nationals. Gary and Frank added seven rounds during the competition, bringing the total points accumulated by NCHS to 218. The giant sweepstakes trophy was their reward.

A glance at this trophy reveals that the talents and efforts of many students, fused by Miss Feris' capable hands, were responsible for this addition to our showcase. Entrants in seventeen National Tournaments are listed. Among the names of students are found Ernest Wilkerson, Vincent Mulvaney, Tom Kidd, Jo Anne Blower Lamun, and Mike Hunter.

This trophy is a fitting tribute to a grand lady and many of her students. It adds to the scholastic heritage of NCHS.

National Merit Semifinalists

This year, as in past years, NCHS has produced a proportionately large number of merit semifinalists. Last year's juniors took the merit qualifying test in March. When scores were announced, NCHS was found to have six semifinalists.

Finalists will be chosen by means of scores on the SAT tests taken in December, 1965. Last year, all NCHS semifinalists became finalists.

If necessary, the National Merit Scholarship Corporation provides students of high scholastic ability with a college education. The organization selects from among the finalists, recipients for many scholarships given by nationally prominent corporations. It also provides a select number of finalists with scholarships from its own funds.

Maurice Griffith, Supt. of Schools

Mr. Griffith, the assistant superintendents, and the members of the Board of Education devoted much time to wrestling with the universal problems that plague public education—increasing curriculum demands and limited local financial resources. That they succeeded in achieving equitable solutions was reflected in the comments of Casperites. A consensus of opinion, both lay and professional, indicated that our schols were continuing to do a commendable job.

Recent legislation enacted in Cheyenne and Washington provided additional funds, funds that our superintendent and the board sought to utilize in the most practical programs.

The school district worked with the Neighborhood Youth Corps to provide employment for high school age youths whose limited family financial circumstances threatened to cut short their schooling. Mr. Bruce Brown, local director of NYC, maintained an office in the high school and worked directly with many of the students.

That our superintendents and the Board of Education were looking into the future while providing for the present became apparent when plans for a planetarium were drawn up and submitted to to Washington for approval.

Administration

For the administration, 1965-66 provided a welcomed respite from the overly-populated classrooms of the previous year. Enrollment settled to the 2,000 mark, a figure more consistent with the physical capacity of NCHS.

Students and teachers were happier with the more normal schedules that the decreased enrollment afforded. The eight period day became but an unpleasant memory.

Mary Bundy, Registrar

Stella Dunn, Secretary

Gordon Ward, Sr. Vice Principal

Mary Ann Drew, Girls' Counselor

An innovation this year was the home room period at the beginning of the school day. Administrators, teachers, and students were astonished both with the efficiency of operation and the closer student-teacher relationship that the home room period engendered.

Of vital import to Mr. Reese, his administrative assistants, and the faculty was the North Central evaluation, a project in which each staff member was involved. Faculty members participated in many hours of evaluative meetings, meetings that exposed the strengths and weaknesses of our school's operation and curriculum.

As the Mustang went to press, the entire staff awaited the visiting evaluating team, not with apprehension, but with confidence.

Special Service Areas

Essential to the function of our school are the service departments which provide research materials, audio-visual aids, and comfort and aid for the sick. The library continued to be the haven for those who needed just one more source for a bibliography, and served also as a peaceful place to relax for those weary of crowded halls. Sniffles and sneezes prevailed in the nurse's office, yet Mrs. McCallum and Mrs. Oden had little difficulty distinguishing fact from fiction concerning student ills.

To the seniors of NCHS, a step into the guidance office is a departure from the present and an entrance into the far-away world of university life. Guidance is that behind-the-scenes department which subtly urges students to evaluate their capabilities and choose colleges and courses accordingly. The counselors are responsible for achieving order from the chaos created by 2,000 young scholars enrolled in seven classes per day, and also for administering various tests beneficial to scholarship-seeking students.

Special Education

Under a program implemented by Mr. Schieferstein, eighteen of twenty-four students enrolled in special education are employed throughout the city in various jobs that are correlated with school subjects. These students will be exposed to experiences similar to those they will encounter later in life.

Natrona County High School will see the retirement this year of one of its finest and best-loved teachers. Miss Elsie Michalke, a member of the Wyoming school system for the past twent-seven years, will indeed be missed and long remembered both by the faculty and the students whom she has influenced.

The Electronics Futures Inc. wireless shorthand learning system has been installed in two business education rooms. Just as the "new math" swept the nation a few years ago, new concepts in the teaching of English are presently being felt in classrooms across the land. NCHS experienced examples of the modern English this year.

After attending an English institute at the University of Wyoming, Miss Hill and Mrs. Jones returned in September with many new ideas, ideas which they divulged to the other members of the department. Miss Hill returned from the NCTE meeting in Boston in November armed with additional information on current trends in English. The department considered and adopted the most promising of these new concepts.

Linguistics and programmed learning became more than jargon among the teachers; some experimental work was done with each of the two in various classrooms. The future will no doubt see an expansion in the use of each of these new concepts.

As the second semester began, attention was directed toward enriching and making more meaningful the classroom activities of those students who have, in the past, experienced little success in the areas of literature and grammar.

The English Department, proud of its past contribution, was not resting on its laurels.

The social science courses offered in NCHS form a complex which runs the gamut from psychology to geography, including economics and world and United States history.

One of the prevalent projects of the department's teachers seems to be that of making their courses as diversified, and, consequently, as interesting, as possible. Mr. Brecheisen's government classes read Allen Drury's Advise and Consent. Many of the instructors require supplementary reading of current events magazines. Term papers are no longer the specified length of dreary topics that formerly were written, but are now replaced by Mrs. LaViolette's stock market projects and history class newspapers.

Home economics, art, music. All necessitate the combination of some degree of natural talent with hard work to produce results gratifying both to the donor and to the recipient. Science students at NCHS found themselves grappling with the intricacies of biology, physics, chemistry, geology, and natural science again this year. Numerous visual aids, such as those exhibited above by Mr. Rizzi and Mr. Stofflet, have been enlisted to combat the inability to see "just why that element has a valence of +3."

So changing are some phases of science that yesterday's knowledge is oftentimes today's fallacy. The science staff, consequently, are required to keep a step ahead of their eternally inaccurate or inadequate textbooks, insuring the exposure of the latest theories to the open, active minds of their students.

The English author Samuel Johnson once said, "There is no tracing the connection of ancient nations but by language; therefore I am always sorry when any language is lost, for languages are the pedigree of nations." Certainly this statment is no less true in this day when the United States is entrenched politically and economically in foreign affairs. An important key to the understanding of our world neighbors is that of language, for in language are found those inherent characteristics peculiar to nations. The benefit received from the study of Latin, and her Rome, and from German, French, and Spanish, and their contemporary powers, is no more than reciprocal knowledge among men.

Whether his desire is for an occupational skill or for creative leisure, a student will find the practical arts faculty cooperative and encouraging. The most highly representative body of NCHS, the Student Senate, found the use of the home room period most expedient for informing the student body and procuring opinions from it concerning the operation of NCHS. Eric White, Chairman of the Senate did a splendid job of coordinating the Senate with administrative policies. Among the tasks of the Student Senate were conducting forums on pertinent issues and regulating the Student Center. The legislative body of NCHS marked one of its most productive years.

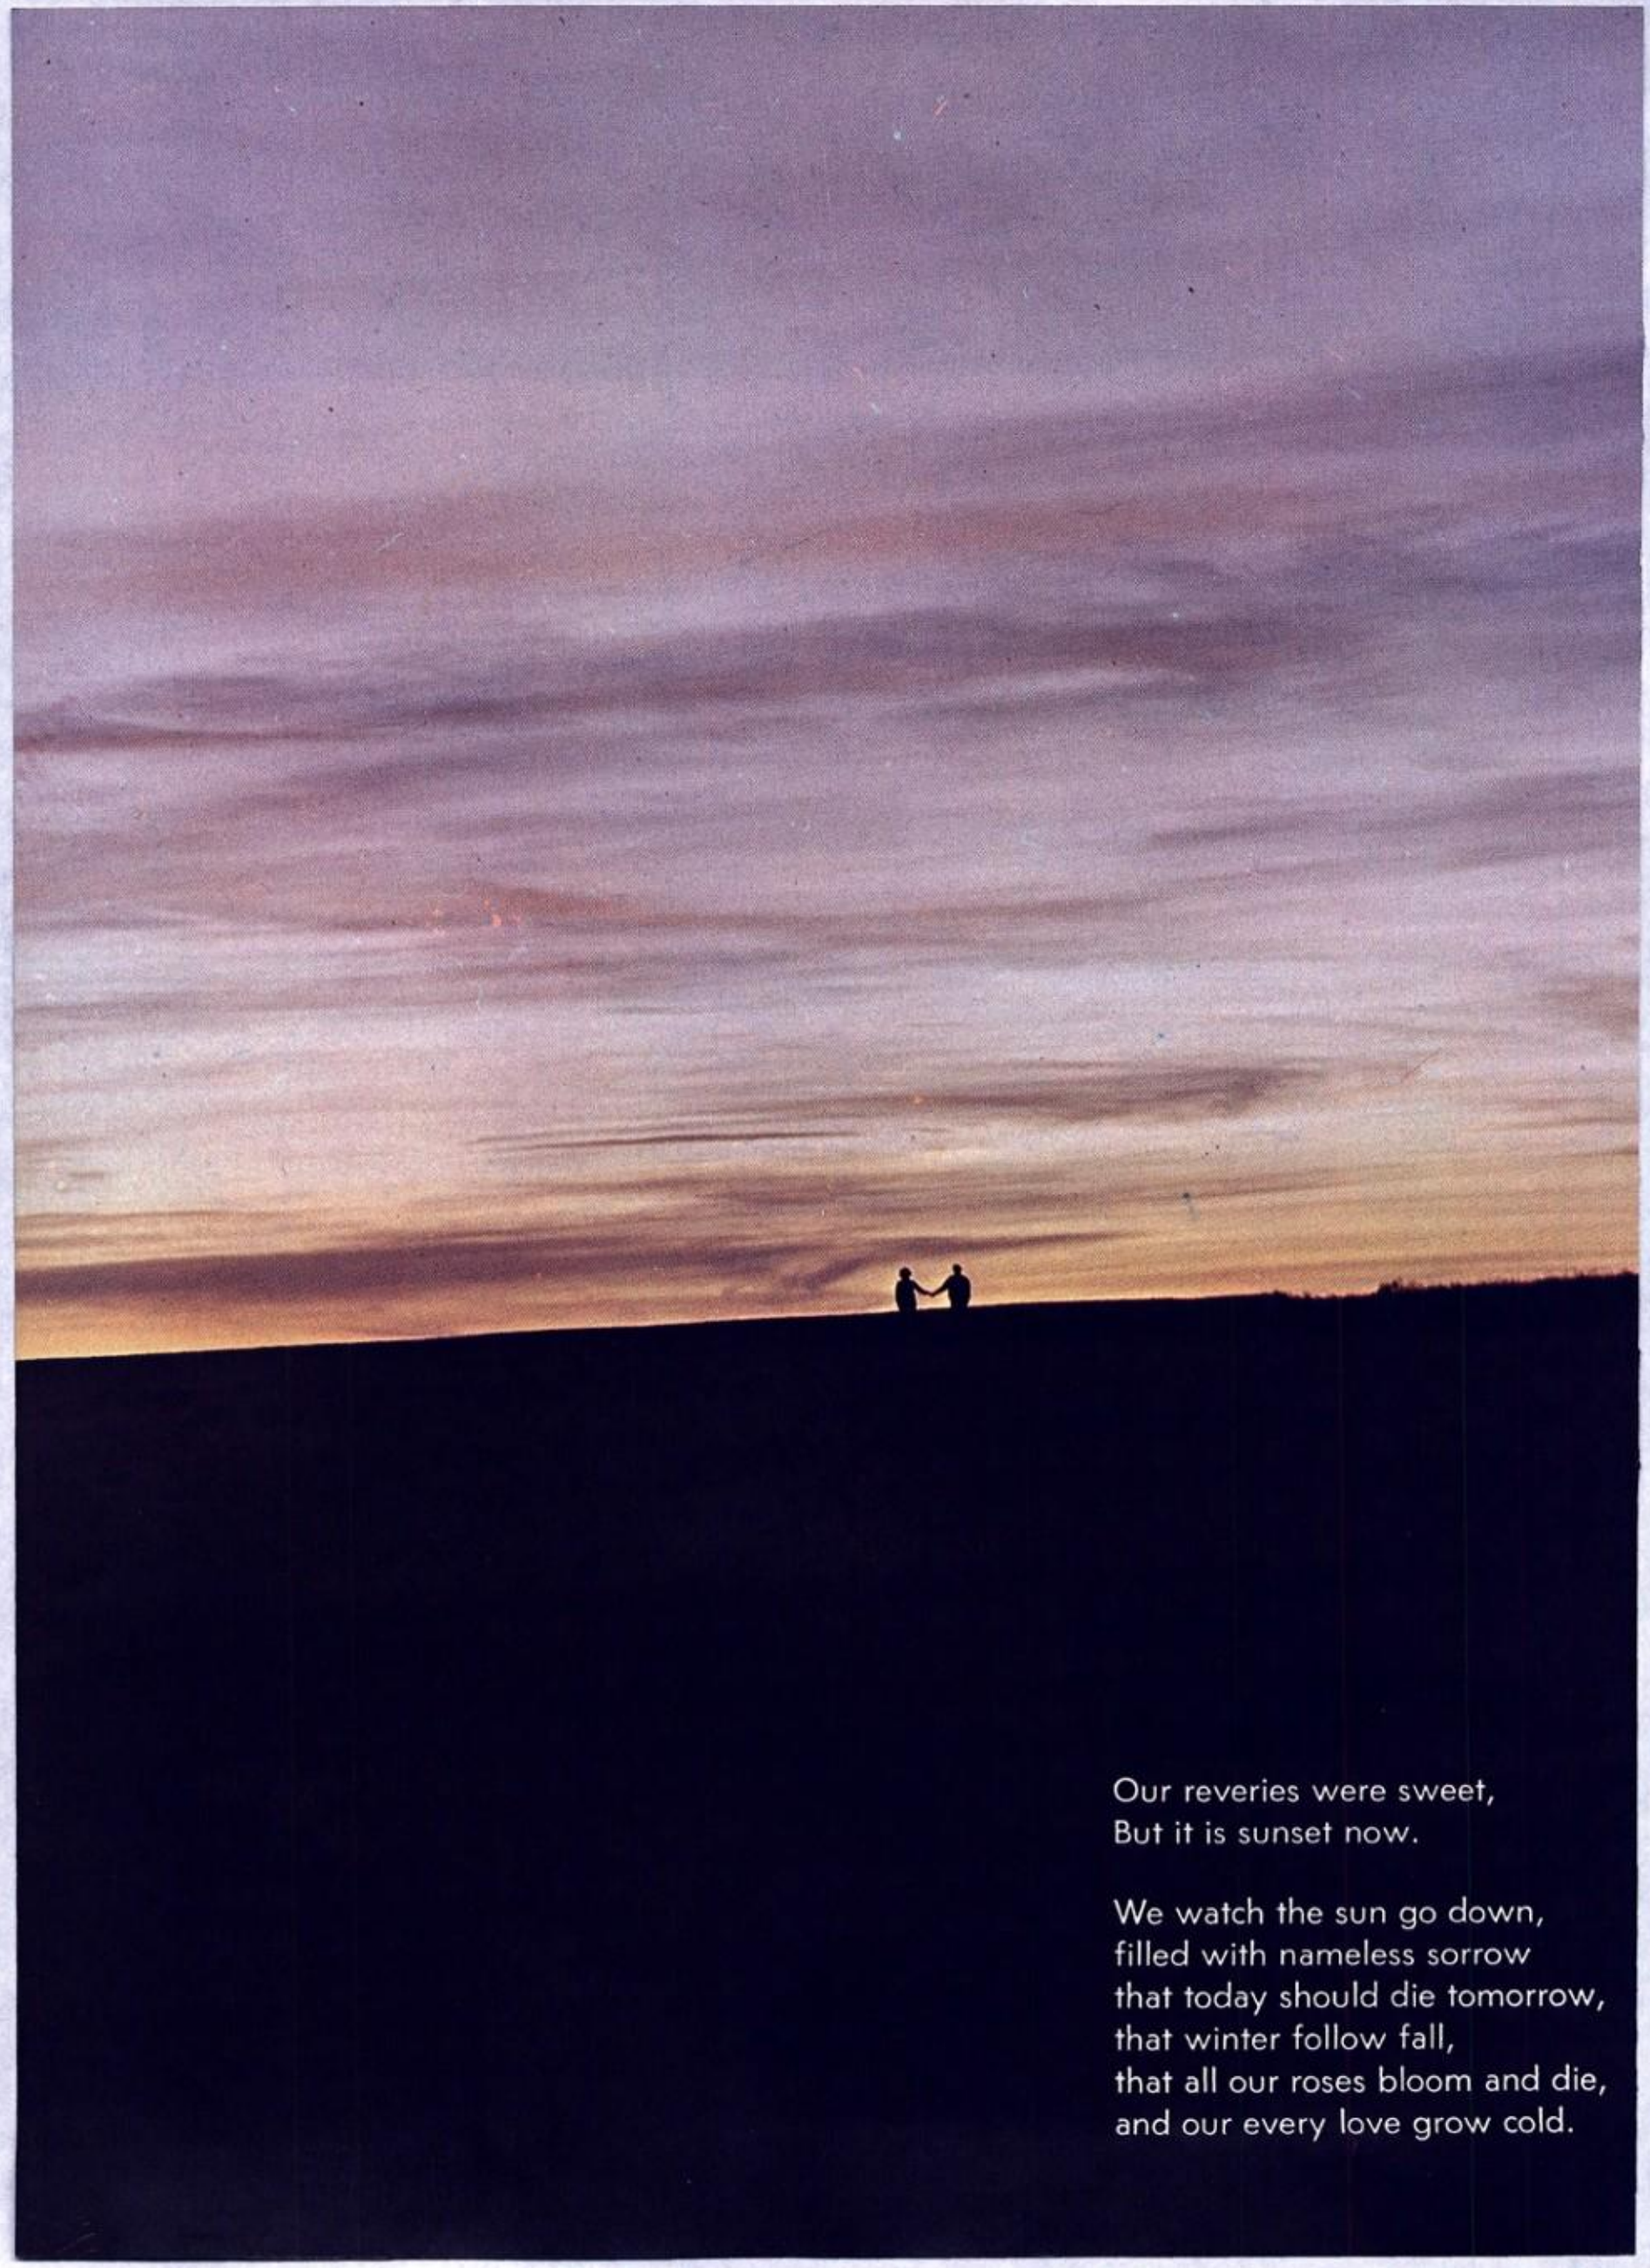
Seniors Await Their Finest Hour



Our reveries were sweet,
But it is sunset now.

We watch the sun go down, filled with nameless sorrow that today should die tomorrow, that winter follow fall,
that all our roses bloom and die,
and our every love grow cold.

Our memories seem sweeter far than days that yet must be,
and familiar faces comfort;
those that are new we fear.
But even friendly faces pass,
yesterdays grow to be years;
today must pass with sunset;
and though there must be a night,
and yesterday is but memory,
tomorrow is a promise!

The orchestra of NCHS again was engaged in an active year, what with presenting a concert in November and playing for "C" pin assemblies. Major events of this season included the collective and individual participation at the District Music Festival in April. For the past two years, the orchestra members have received 1 or superior ratings at the Festival. A joint concert with the band and the performance of "Bye Bye Birdie" ranked high among other activities.

Nothing is as truly American as the high school band; nothing fans the flame of school spirit as much as the playing of the school fight song. Bands tend to make more indelible those happy moments of athletic victory, moving assemblies, or graduation exercises.

The NCHS band serves us well. What would a pep assembly be without the pep band? What would the stadium be like if there were no "Hail to Casper High School" being played as the team entered the gates?

Whether it be here at school, in Laramie on Band Day, on the "Mustang Special," or at the State Music Festival, Mr. Coolbaugh's musicians represent our school in fine fashion.

Mustang Footballers Earn Every Win

Coach Hill's initial season as head football coach was one that he will long remember. He inherited a team that was short on experience, and as the season progressed, injuries took their toll of the young Mustangs.

The outlook was extremely promising through the first game and one-half. After soundly thumping Lander in the first game, the Mustangs held a 14-13 lead over Billings West in Billings. Then, to use a trite statement, the roof caved in. A couple of "long gainers" by the Billings speedsters put the game out of reach.

The balance of the schedule was filled with frustration. Injuries to key personnel plus a tendency to make mistakes in critical situations combined to cause the coaching staff to believe that they had been victims of "snake bite."

The Mustangs picked up half their wins, however, in big home games. They handily defeated Torrington in the Homecoming tilt, and in the first intra-city clash with Kelly Walsh, NCHS came out the winner.

The Kelly Walsh game, played on a beautiful November afternoon, was a real thriller. The Mustangs prevailed 12-7 after trailing 7-6 at halftime to a fired-up Trojan aggregation. Each team exhibited hustle and desire—almost enough of each to hide their inexperience.

With a fine nucleus of lettermen plus the excellent sophomore team (pictured on page 112) returning next year, Coach Hill is already plotting his revenge. We won't bet against him.

Track Team Takes 3rd at State Meet

Coach Geldien's spiked-shoe brigade capped a very successful year by placing third in the State AA Track Meet. Actually, their performance in this meet was somewhat disappointing, for only the week before they had captured first place in the Northern AA Regional.

Del Gehrett became the third Wyoming high schooler to break the 13 foot mark in the pole vault when he vaulted 13' 1" at the state meet.

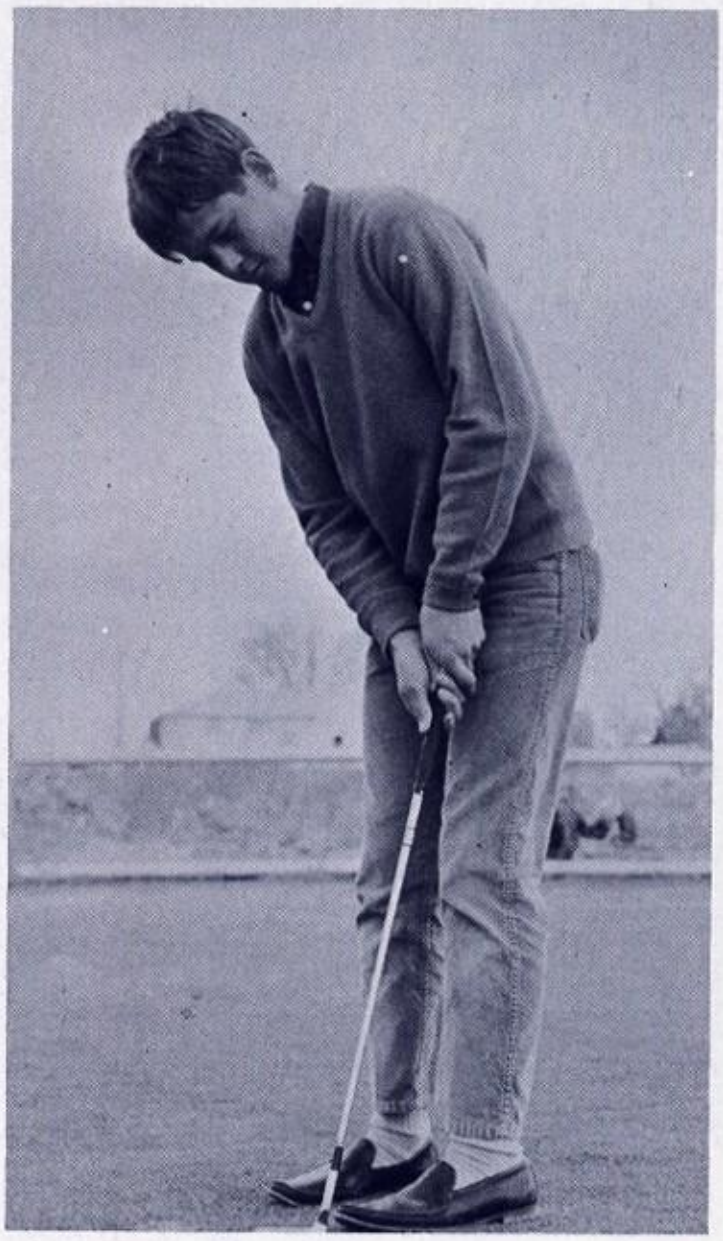
Golfers Narrowly Miss State Title After Sweeping All Opposition During Regular Season

Our golfers continued their mastery of the fairways and greens during the 1965 fall season. No serious challengers were encountered in the Riverton Invitational and in the Lander Invitational.

Bill Brayton, Terry Crabb, Tom Dunn, Milt Klungness, and Steve Streeper represented NCHS in the State Golf Meet at Torrington. Coach Weishaar felt that this team was one of his most promising aggregations, but the team championship eluded the Mustangs. The low four men from Sheridan required a total of 653 strokes for two tours of the course; Casper's foursome required 659.

The wealth of squad talent would indicate that a state golf championship in 1966 is quite probable. We say with confidence, "Wait till next year."



Klungness Sets State Record

Because of his success as a Mustang golfer during the two seasons, Milt Klungness is given extra space in the MUSTANG. During the State Golf Meet at Torrington, Milt shot the low two day total of 152. This score is a state record for a two day meet. Last fall, Milt repeated as State Individual Champion.

The tables are turned. Who reverses whom?

Wrestlers Enjoy Successful Season

Our grapplers continued to master most opponents during the 1965-66 season. The varsity rang up a 10-3-1 season, plus a second place finish in the star-studded Casper Invitational. Coach Quinlan scheduled no softies; our opposition included all the highly rated teams in the state.

The tell-tale gruns and groans of the weekly intra-squad challenges attested to the depth of our team. Many times the individual competition within the squad was more intense than that from rival schools.

The Mustangs finished fourth in the State Wrestling Tournament as three men, Larry Nicholson, Newt Schnoor, and Fred Fusselman, wrestled their way into the finals. Nicholson became the state champion in the 165 pound division.

Basketball Team Posts 12-6 Mark

Ted Nichols, head coach

This season saw Coach Nichols turn the tables on many of his tormentors; the 1965-66 hoopsters provided the balm that salved many of the wounds inflicted during the preceding season.

For the first time in many years the Mustang squad had height and experience. These, plus hustle, were the ingredients for the winning formula.

The opening win over Billings West, a team with a long home win streak, gave an indication of things to come. Two wins over the Laramie Plainsmen, defending state AA champions, also proved mighty pleasing. Only the Cheyenne Central Indians, rated number one in the state, were able to master the Mustangs in both regular season encounters.

In our six losses a total of 28 points separated us and the opposition. Only one home loss, a 70-68 thriller to Cheyenne Central, was recorded.

As tournament approached, Coach Nichols and his men were looking ahead to another chance at the Indians.

Mustang Skiers Show Savvy on Slopes

Skiing is rapidly becoming an important part of the winter sports program at NCHS. No fewer than eleven meets were on the sports calendar this winter.

Coach Larsen is quite proud of his team, and the record justifies his pride. A brief resume of the high finishers for NCHS in each of the five meets to date follows:

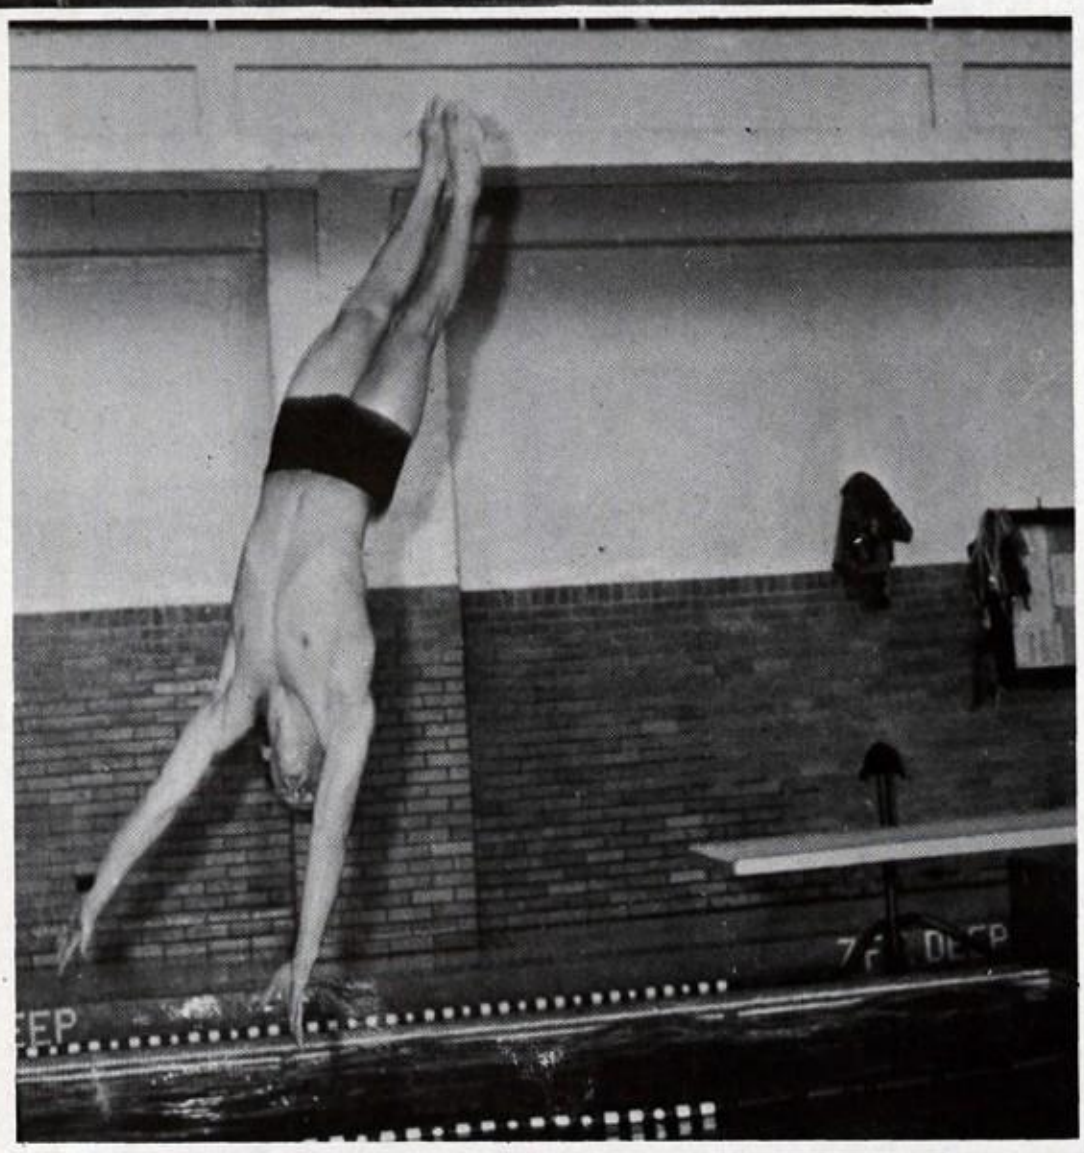
Bruce Studer 1st, Lynn Frost 4th

Jerry Mahoney leans like the champion he is.



Swim Team Dunked Most Opponents

Coach Ray's tankmen recorded a good year, winning nine dual meets and losing six. The season record is more impressive when one considers the vastly improved caliber of competition exhibited by most high schools in Wyoming this year.

Don DeLong, Dan Egolf, Geordie Knapp, Dennis Busby, Cliff Binks, Paul Riebesell, and Ron Elledge captured the bulk of the Mustang victories during the season.

DeLong, an All-American diver last year, completely dominated the competition again. He was undefeated, and in the process set a new state record of 327 points in the State Swimming Meet.

Egolf outdistanced all regular season rivals in his specialty, the butterfly stroke. He finished second in the state meet. Final standings placed NCHS in fourth place in the State Swimming Meet, as Ron Elledge took second place in diving.

NCHS Crack Drill Team

The Crack ROTC Drill Team consists of four squads of ROTC Cadets who have drilled since September. They perform at basketball games at NCHS and the college in addition to performances elsewhere. The team, which has constantly placed in the top three of the Western United States, travels to Boulder, Colorado, each April to compete in the Annual Pershing Rifle Meet.

Jayc-ettes

Being one of the most efficient organizations of Natrona County High School, Jayc-ettes' activities range from a Christmas party for the retarded children to painting the Hospitality House of the Salvation Army to reminding negligent parked motorists of the hazards of leaving their keys in the ignition. Although their projects are certainly diversified, the Jayc-ettes are willing and eager to assist in the promotion of any worthwhile civic undertaking.

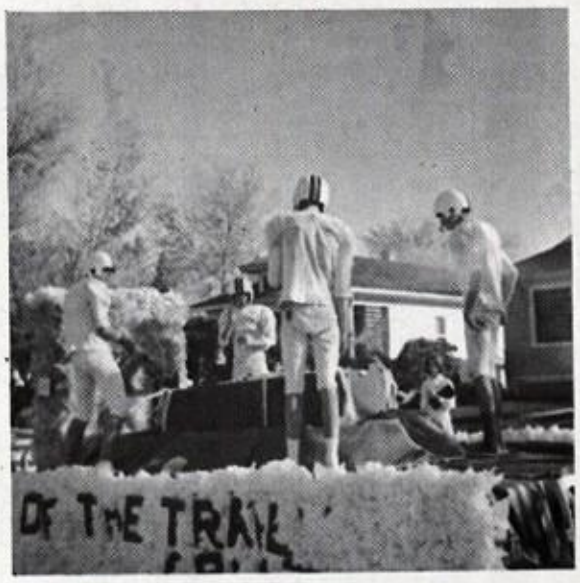
Key Club



Homecoming float

Key Club is the high school's only international organization. The NCHS association is sponsored by the Casper Kiwanis Club. The Key Club is a service club whose primary function is to better the home, school, and community by means of various projects, which are carried out during the year by the members. Funds for the year are obtained from a Kleenex sale conducted each fall.

The International Relations Club, having dual membership from both NCHS and KWHS, enjoyed another activity-filled year. An exhibit on Greece was displayed by the IRC at International Day in Golden, Colorado. In addition to an Italian food-and-film festival, programs on Pakistan, Israel, and Sweden have been presented. Delegates to the Model United Nations in Greeley represented Sierra Leone and Luxembourg.

National Forensic League

The Tau Kappa Alpha trophy was awarded to the NCHS National Forensic League, as the chapter had the highest cumulative number of points acquired in national competition.

NFLers commanded a busy schedule which included meets at Thermopolis, Rock Springs, Casper, Buffalo, Rapid City, Fort Collins, Sheridan, the University of Denver, Newcastle, Cheyenne Central, Greeley, N. E. District, and State. As the MUSTANG went to press, the speech students had 109 wins. 110 1st places, 94 2nd places, and 64 3rd places.

English Club

The English Club is a very informal club composed of approximately fifteen to twenty students who enjoy getting together once a month to discuss a book of their own choosing. Elected officers include president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer. Appointed offices include a committee for suggesting books.

Due to the caliber of students in the club, the discussion is able to proceed at an easy pace that covers, in varying degrees, the structure, interpretation, and criticism of the book along with the relation of the book's ideas both to other books we have read and to life itself.

Books we have enjoyed this year include Bradbury's The Illustrated Man, Campus' The Stranger, Turgenev's Fathers and Sons, Sholokhov's And Quiet Flows the Don, Kafka's Metamorphosis, Barrett's Lillies of the Field, and Tolkien's The Hobbit.

French Club

French Club took on a new and better outlook this year due to its new sponsor and a larger membership than ever before recorded.

The first project was the "Mustangs a Go-Go" homecoming float, which was topped by Linda Pouttu a go-going.

Meetings were highlighted with slides of Europe, games of charades, and "passe-mot." As these pages go on to Dallas, plans are being made for sophomore initiations—the only assured part of this process being tasty French petites goodies to eat, an anticipated recurrence at all meetings.

French Club Homecoming Float

The Spanish Club sponsored the trip to Mexico. They are now participating in an Alliance for Progress project by helping to raise $100.00 for the sister-state of Goias, Brazil. A dinner was held in February to raise money for this prospective donation. Among other activities, the Spanish Club in conjunction with other clubs contributed to the furnishings of the new Student Activity Center, and during the United Nations Day celebrations they put on a style show featuring Spanish and Mexican costumes.

Latin Club

The Latin Club commenced the school year with the initiation of new members at a ceremony in the inner court. Later in the year, the club members participated in the NCHS book drive for Viet Nam and were well represented by several cases of books. The Latin Club hopes to hold its annual spring banquet at which the members wear togas and are served an authentic Roman feast.

The Casper Chapter of the Future Farmers of America continues to win honors under a new sponsor, Mr. Harrington, who succeeded Mr. Downer last summer.

Last spring, Gordon Hood, current president, won the Farm Mechanics Award and the Star Greenhand Award.

The entire chapter won the Herdsman Award at the Central Wyoming Fair.

Gordon Hood continued to set a good example during the fall and winter months. He won the local speech contest and placed 3rd in the regional competition. Vern Cheney won the creed contest both at the chapter and at the regional level.

D.E.C.A. is designed to give students a chance to combine classroom studies and work experience. Members learn marketing and distribution, and at the same time they are earning as they learn.

Confidence in developing one's abilities and in meeting the demands of an ever-changing civilization and economy is another goal.

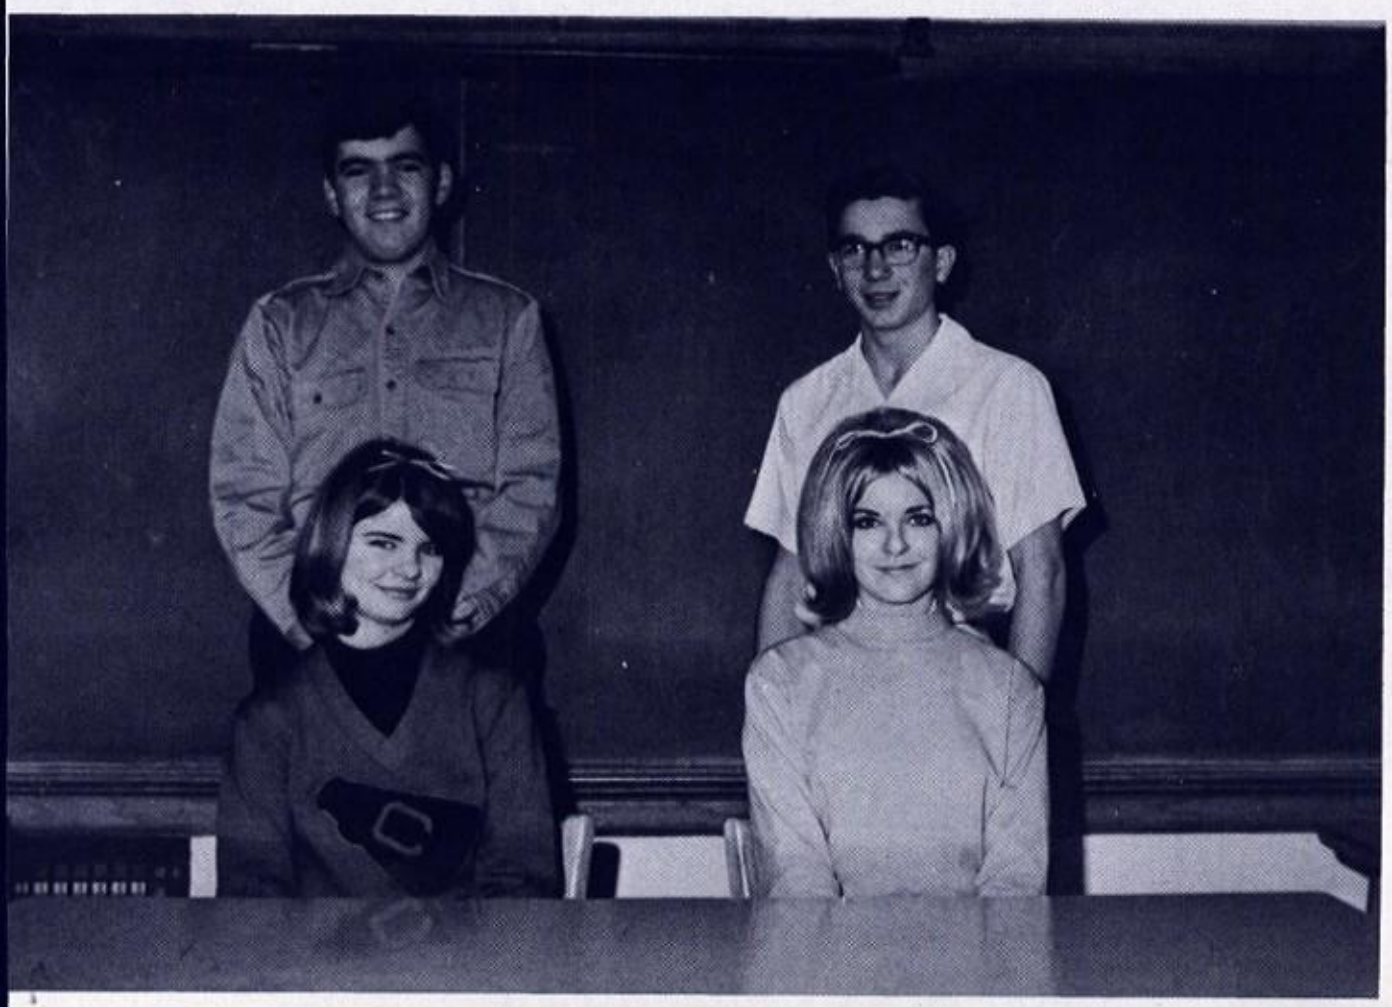
Biology Club

Botany, zoology, physiology, and related subjects are studied by the members of the Biology Club. Under the guidance of Mr. Brennan, the club this year heard several knowledgeable speakers. Dr. Brendan Phibbs; County Agent Don Ralston; and Shirley Hunter, a laboratory technician, presented interesting talks and demonstrations to the group.



Seated: Jeanette Francis, vice-president; Anita Larsen, secretary. Standing: Tom Brock, president; Erick Jones, treasurer.

De Mode Des Femme Chics, a newly formed club at NCHS for senior girls, was organized to develop personal improvement in social graces, etiquette, grooming, and poise. These basic fundamentals will prepare the girls to do intermediate modeling. Field trips to hair stylists and cosmetologists have been taken. The girls are planning a model fashion preview for spring.

Chess Club

The NCHS chess club traveled to Scottsbluff, Nebraska and Fort Morgan, Colorado for inter-state meets. Robert Wendling, Daryl Murphy, and Ron Philo placed respectively first, second, and third at Scottsbluff. A high rating was also achieved in the Ft. Morgan tourney. Robert Wendling reigned as state adult champion.

Radio Guild

The Radio Guild, reactivated after many years absence, assumed the activities of a weekly radio program on KTWO radio and the morning announcements. Speakers were invited to give the members additional information concerning the many facets of broadcasting.

The Library Club, a new addition to NCHS, was organized to accord the student librarians an opportunity to become better acquainted with one another. The girls hosted a Christmas tea for the Kelly Walsh librarians, and have tentatively planned a spring luncheon.

Newcomers

Whether the occasion is a football game in NCHS Stadium, a basketball game in the gym, or the "Mustang Special" grinding its way to Cheyenne, Miss Hemry's Newcomers are near the action. The tell-tale aroma of fresh popcorn in the halls always indicates an impending athletic engagement.

But this club is more than a group of concessionaires; it actively acquaints new students with our school and its many opportunities. Through numerous social get-togethers, the prime function of the club, that of engendering a feeling of belonging on the part of newcomers to Casper, is accomplished.

Troupe #1 National Thespians

Mr. Welsh's Thespians again enjoyed an active, industrious year; the plays presented included "Hansel and Gretel," "Charley's Aunt," "Little Women," and 'Bye Bye Birdie."

In addition to the above formidable schedule, the Thespians hosted a Sophomore Orientation Tea in the fall to introduce sophomores to their activities, and held the Spotlight Dinner in the spring to bestow awards for Best Actor, Best Actress, Best Supporting Actor, and Best Supporting Actress.

Charley's Aunt

"I am Charley's aunt from Brazil where the nuts come from," continually convulsed Casper theater-goers at the annual Winter Production of the NCHS Players. Two amorous college gentlemen wishing to entertain two refined ladies at their apartment need a chaperon. Charley's aunt is to arrive from Brazil and solve the dilemma. The women are invited. Donna Lucia D'Alvadorez, Charley's aunt, telegrams her regrets to inform them of her belated arrival. Complications arise as a fellow college student takes the place of the aunt. With the arrival of Mr. Frank Chesney, Jack's father, Mr. Spettigue, the girls' guardian, and Donna Lucia, confusion mounts to rolling laughter. All is solved by mass romance at curtain call.

Quill and Scroll is one of four nationally acknowledged honorary organizations for high school journalists.

The NCHS chapter is comprised of those students who have been active members of the GUSHER, IN PASSING, or MUSTANG staffs.

The local unit, reactivated last year, is presently trying to accumulate sufficient money to send one student to a summer journalism workshop.

The GUSHER is known by its bi-weekly appearance during homeroom period. The news tableau will be remembered by its reporting of: Council Corner, the Inquiring Reporter, Dear Dotty Dampshoulder, Dopey Disks, Eeyore Speaks, and the news and events of NCHS.

In Passing

IN PASSING, the literary publication of NCHS, received over two hundred contributions for its fifty-two page edition of poems, prose, sketches, short stories, and essays. The booklet was published in the spring with over 75 entries.

Awards Give Recognition to Individual and Add Prestige to School

D. A. R. Good Citizenship contestants, left to right: Joan Anderson; Rae Marie' McReynolds, winner; Susan Scott.

Among the highlights of the spring are the Civic Awards Assembly and the School Awards Assembly. With keen anticipation the entire student body, particularly the seniors, awaits the announcement of scholarship and trophy winners.

These diverse awards set the stage for the graduation day which is but two weeks off. Outstanding seniors receive the recognition due them for their meritorious endeavors during high school.

Awards also serve to foster the esprit de corps of the entire school, administrators, teachers, and underclassmen included. Each individual shares in the optimistic atmosphere.

The Class of 1965 won $145,472 in scholarships, a new record for NCHS graduating classes. This year's graduates look forward to bettering that mark.

One can be sure that on a day in May many of our graduating seniors will receive honors due them. These honors may come in the form of a medal, or a trophy, or in the form of an envelope that contains a scholarship.

The Betty Crocker "Homemaker of Tomorrow" Contest winner, Gayla Soloman, is congratulated by Mrs. Walters.

Mr. Anderson, Ken Eicher, Mr. Mouser, and Julie Vering

Amen was the word in vogue on the fourth of March as the final deadline was met by the group. Many other words were issued by the organization, such as hallelujah and others. Pictures were the challenge of Mr. Paul Goedicke and photographers; copy and layout the bane of the rest of the staff. Mr. Fred Mouser and Mr. Bruce Anderson lead the group in its accomplishments of a top figure of twenty-eight hundred dollars of advertising, two hundred twenty-four pages of annual, top photography, and imaginative layout. In the unusual decor of room 205 Tom West created poetry and artistic drawings. Hugh Phibbs, Susan Young, and Stanley Cadwell also contributed to the art in the 1966 MUSTANG. Dave Kight, John House, and Dave Foote gave valuable assistance at the grueling Friday night sessions. Jerilyn Ray, Mary Rees, Holly McKerral, Maryles Patterson, and Rae Marie McReynolds were helpful in lightening the load for the rest of the staff. Miss Hill and the administration deserve special thanks for their cooperation. The MUSTANG staff says it was real nice, in fact it was real.

Dary
I know what I've seen of your self you're really a swell kid. I hope we really make it off on a good line, here at work before. Your one of my big loses, and I'm going to respect
it. I do my parent. ha ha, Really this hotel. When you say, I would sometimes but here all my life in Casper and I just met you here at probably miss you. I really appreciate your helping me to get off on the right foot here at work.
Stay as good looking as you are, and really have a will and you'll go far, for a one after me of these days, none of you choose to be
Who ever you first

Gary,
So a senior live enjoyed being with this year. Ah Mack been fun in Auto Mech have good luck in service and the best of luck in the future.
Dick Sweeney
"66"

Gary.
Best of Luck!
It's really been nice knowing you, even if you are a yank - and a sailor! Ha! Ha!
your friend Irene
